McLean Project for the Arts Receives $50,000 CARES Act Funding from National Endowment for the Arts

Funds intended to help the non-profit arts community combat economic hardships caused by the spread of COVID-19

McLean, VA: McLean Project for the Arts (MPA) received a $50,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) through the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act. The organization was among the 14 Virginia arts organizations and 846 U.S. arts organizations selected to receive direct funding.

"This grant provides critical support as we continue to adapt our visual arts programming and carry out our mission during and beyond this COVID-19 pandemic," said MPA Executive Director Lorri J. Carboneau.

The National Endowment for the Arts received more than 3,000 eligible applications requesting $3.57 million for the $45 million available in direct assistance. Applications were limited to those who were previous NEA award recipients from the past four years. These non-matching grants are provided to support staff salaries, fees for artists or contractual personnel, and facilities costs.

Arts and culture are a key component of the U.S. economy that contributed $877.8 billion, or 4.5 percent, to the nation's gross domestic product in 2017 and employ over 5 million wage-and-salary workers who collectively earned $403 billion. This funding will help support those jobs and those nonprofit organizations during this time of great need so that arts and culture will persevere as a significant contributor to the American economy.
