

ArtReach art activities, which we're sharing with our community partners and through our social media.

Don't Forget to Follow Us on Social Media

The photos above are just a few examples of ServiceSource class members proudly showing their collage and other mixed media projects. Together, the group has explored three in-depth series. Lessons are based on looking at nature and how to use other found materials. The group continues to expand the number of participants since the program's inception last spring.

Director Sharon Fishel, ServiceSource Division Manager Theresa Piccolo, in cooperation with instructor and MPA ArtReach Studio Manager Mary Eliza Carbonneau. Read the complete Inside NOVA article here.

As was recently reported in the Washington Post, MPA and Fairfax County Park Authority are advancing a new plan for an arts and education center at Clemyjontri Park. The new plan Closes November 14--See It Before It's Gone!

MPA is an independent non-profit 501(C)3 organization. Funds raised through MPAartfest via our Community Center. For a complete list of sponsors, featured artists and musicians, and everyone who shopped or attended an event.

Still; Emily Hoxworth Hager: "Pustular"; Steven Dobbin, "Workingman Collective"

Pictured, from top left: Judith Goodman, "Complex Reflections"; Melissa Burley, "When Time Stood Still"; and, McLean Project for the Arts (MPA) is funded in part by the National Endowment for the Arts, the Virginia Commission for the Arts, and ArtsFairfax.

Mark your calendars: #GivingTuesday is December 1, 2020! An annual global day of giving and unity, #GivingTuesday unleashes the power of people and organizations to transform their communities and the world. When you support MPA's education programs with a #GivingTuesday donation, you make individual and community transformation through the visual arts possible.

Help MPA continue to connect Art and Community!

#GivingTuesday Save the Date: #GivingTuesday is December 1, 2020!